DETAILED ACTION

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 10-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim 10 ends with "and wherein." The examiner does not know what is intended by this. Is a limit missing? Workers of ordinary skill in the art would not understand if further limits were meant by this language thus, claims 10-19 are held confusing.

3. Claims 10, 13, 15, 18-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Notsu et al (EP 0 666 184 A1). In Notsu et al, see particularly page 4, lines 3-16, page 5, lines 2-18, page 6, lines 35-37 and Examples 4-6 and 9-10. Notsu et al disclose printing plate precursors in Examples 4-6 and 9-10 wherein silicone compounds are present as a water repellant along with carbon black. These plates are to be used in gravure printing, flexoprinting, etc. thus are used in relief printing See Notsu et al on page 7, lines 8-10. The examples of Notsu et al do not anticipate the instant plates, but instead make them obvious in view of their teachings on page 6, wherein in lines 32-35, the thickness of the photosensitive, i.e. ablatable, layer, of Notsu et al is from 1 to 100 um or from 0.001 to 0.1 mm. The top of the range of 0.1 mm overlaps the instant range at 0.1 mm or 100um. The plates of Notsu et al are disclosed to include flexographic plates and relief plates, thus with respect to instant claims 10, 13, 15, 18-19, to laser engrave plates with laser engraveable layers up to 0.1 um thick as taught feasible by Notsu et al with silicone rubber present in the laser engravable layer as taught as water repellant on page 5, lines 26-39 in the range of 0.1 to 5 parts by weight would have been prima facie obvious as would be the assumption laser engraving occurred in air, i.e. a gas with oxygen present. See particularly MPEP 2144.05. In the case where the claimed ranges "overlap or lie inside ranges disclosed by the prior art" a prima facie case of obviousness exists. In re Wertheim, 541 F.2d 257, 191 USPQ 90 (CCPA 1976); In re Woodruff, 919 F.2d 1575, 16 USPQ2d 1934 (Fed. Cir. 1990). The examiner notes applicants call the silicone rubber a binder but do not exclude other components from the laser-engraveable layer, thus the silicone rubber even though called by another name by Notsu et al inherently has the ability to act as a binder in the plates of the prior art. With respect to the presence of silicone rubber in the layer in question, Notsu et al on page 5, lines 2-17 disclose silicone rubber as one choice of compound present.

1. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Cushner et al (5,798,202) teach laser engraving elastomer layers in flexographic printing plates but no mention is made of elastomeric silicon rubbers. See in Cushner et al, col. 11, lines 30-67. Guls (5,396,841) teach engraving polysiloxane layers for forming letterpress printing plates but no mention is made to added carbon black or iron oxide to this layer. In Guls, see particularly col. 4.

2. Claims 12, 14, and 16-17 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
